
HISTORY FROM A STEAMER TRUNK

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

When Samuel Cunard founded the Cunard Steamship Line in 1840 few people knew the impact this great man and his company would have on the city of Halifax. Follow the story of Cunard, his company and his hometown of Halifax as told through the generations of a local family.

The story begins with the family's ancestral grandfather receiving a steamer trunk upon his retirement from the Cunard Line. This trunk became the prized heirloom of the family who stored their tales of life in Halifax inside of it. The tragedy of the loss of RMS Titanic, the Halifax Explosion, VE Day riots and the resurgence of Halifax after the Second World War are all stories that can be explored in this engaging presentation that uses real artefacts and costumed characters to accentuate the stories being told. Guests come away with a much deeper understanding and appreciation for the city of Halifax.

This program is wholly customizable to a group's interests. With some background information provided and an appropriate amount of lead time our program development team can tailor a program to include elements of, or tell the whole history of a company or organization.
